The Finest Harbor on the Pacific.

A field for Enterprising Yankees. Millions in Gold and Silver in the Vieinity. Future Port of American Australian Trade. GUYMAS, MEXICO, January, 1881.

MR. EDITOR:-This quaint old town in Sonora, Mexico, is located on the east shore of the Gulf of California and has a harbor, land-locked and sheltered from the Sea with approaches through chan-nels between the Islands of Pajoras, Sun Vicente, Pitayas and Cochori. The odd and distinctive features of this strange old town, are so peculiar that I have been tempted to give your readers some idea of its location, its future possibilities, and something of the ante-deluvian habits of this city of 6,000 souls.

I came down from Frisco on a very confortable coastwise steamer which touches here about once a month, carrying a few passengers and a light cargo of goods. We anchored one bright morngoods. We anchored one bright morning in the harbor, and while we were preparing to go ashore I took in the wild and romantic surroundings of this port, so soon to become a great commer-cial entre-port in the American Australian trade.

Lazy Yaqui Indians were plying their vocation on every hand catching fish of many varities or taking shrimps, crabs, lobsters and oysters that are found in great abundance.

THE TOWN OF GUYAMAS nestles at the end of its quiet and secure harbor, surrounded on three sides by the evidence was high bluffy mountains. The opening injudge exclaimed: to the ocean between two high, rugged cliffs, is about five miles from the city, and within this strait the bay widens so as to furnish what has been well termed the most secure harbor on the Pacific.

About half a mile from the town an island divides the inner from the outer harbor, and it is on this island that the Here are the immense wharves and unlimited dockage, where the keaviest menof war can anchor in safety. Beyond the island, landward, the water is much shallower, the average depth being but about nine feet, while on the seaward side there is a depth averaging thirty feet. The railroad reaches its terminus by a long bridge from the Eastern shore, and will be able to joying that universal name; a low, square co. In fact, some of them were highly ornamental. As we neared the public square, or plaza, we found a gay scene awaiting us. The native band from the garrison were playing a medley of Spanish airs, and the plaza was filled with ladies, young and old, in gay costunes, who promenaded without escorts, their natural protectors standing outside the natural protectors standing outside the circle and bowing here and there as they recognized acquaintances. It was a very better acquainted, that

THE INHABITANTS are divided into three classes, the "Upper Ten" being the Spanish merchants whom I found refined and educated and with an elegant gentility about them, too often lacking among our own aristocracy.

The middle class are the native Mexican and the lower, the Yaqui Indians, who have been largely employed in grading the road between Hermosilla and Guaymas. I was astonished to find what we term slavery (here called peonage) is in full vogue. If a man becomes in debt to another for $10 he is placed in absoman who once gets behind $10 is hope-

Perhaps the most noticable characteristic of Guaymas is the evident aversion and hostility to any thing which savors of progression. In transporting cargoes from the wharf to the custom house and thence to the business house, no drays or wagons are allowed to be used, because it takes away the labor of the men who "pack" everything on their backs, and in carrying water from the large well which supplies the town the same law is in vogue, and a movement to bring the water into the town by pipes was instantly squelched by the authorities. I made considerable inquiry about these MINING is concerned. Back further, however, from the coast there are many mines being worked which are paying splendidly tion of miners and business men such as has never been known in the West, for these certainly are rich and promising fields for the lusty prospector. The climate bere in winter is (to express it in a single word) perfect, although in the town during the summer months the thermometer ranges pretty high, owing to the mountains keeping out the sea to the mountains keeping out the sea breeze. Living is comparatively cheap and comfortable, and from all accounts everybody is as healthy here as any-where. F. S. P.

How Our Forests Are Used Up.

Our forests are rapidly going, while no adequate provision is being made to restore them. The state of New York has a great park full of timber in the northern wilderness, but annual fires are making havoc in that region. The great woods are losing more than they gain from annual growth. Wood is becoming more accret and ipaccessible seems ing more scarce and inaccessible every year. In many states the forests on level ground have mostly disappeared, and only remain upon high hills or mountains, which are not easily accessible. The "Monetary Times" tells how the forests disappear.

To make shoe pegs enough for American use consumes annually 100,000 cords of timber, and to make our lucifer matches, 300,000 cubic feet of the best pine are required every year. Lasts and boots trees take 500,000 cords of birch, and maple, and the handles of tools 500,000 more. The baking of our bricks consume 2.-

In the Northwest there has been a very rapid destruction of the forests, and much solicitude is felt as to the future world.—Ex. source of timber supply. Straw lumber has been manufactured to some extent in Kansas, and is said to answer the purpose very well. Straw lumber may be the lumber of the future. The refuse straw from the great grain, producing States of the West will be utilized. In-stead of raising trees, the land can be devoted to grain, which may be sold, and the straw used for lumber. Coal for fuel and straw for inside finishing may rethem a chance to grow.

Honesty the Best Policy.

The Bad Boy of America.

The badness of the bad boy of America -not necessarily the American bad boyis acknowledged on all hands. He does not cease to be bad when he ceases to be a boy. From the street-corner rowdy he lute servitude until it is paid, and as graduates as a saloon sluggard, the ward wages vary from 10 to 35 cents a day, a politican and the sand lot headless. politican, and the sand-lot hoodlum. Whether his local name is "hoodlum," "larekin," "blood-tub," "plugugly," 'dead rabbit," "bummer," "loafer," or bowery-boy," he is sui generis, and has no counterpart in any other part of the world. He respects neither God nor man; the eye-glass of the philosopher. Elisha's she bears would have no terrors for him. His theoretical knowledge of hunting, mountains surrounding the town, but nothing seems to have been developed in them as far as him such confidence in himself that if warned of the punishment upon the tormenters of Elisha, he would coolly reply, "Trot out your she bears!" The great showman, Mr. P. T. Barnum, in talking recently of his soul-harrowing feelings during his late severe illness, said: "I looked back and could hardly recall a benefit I had rendered to my fellow-men all my life. The folly, the stupidity of fooling away the few vears given us here in childish strifes, bickerings and differences occurred to me so strongly that I resolved that the sun would never go down on me cherishing malice in my heart against a single fellow-being. This feeling led me to write to men in Bridgeport and elsewhere with whom I had differences-trivial perhaps. but still sufficient to keep us apart-and they all returned replies in the most kindly and considerate spirit. Washingtonville, Ohio, June 17, 1880.
Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents: Reading your advertisement in Turf, Field and Farm, of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and having a valuable and speedy Horse which had been lame from spavin eighteen months, I sent to you for a bottle by express, which in six weeks removed all lameness and enlargement and a large splint from another horse, and both horses are to-day as sound as colts. The one bottle was worth to me one hundred dollars. Respectfully yours, Statement Made UNDER OATH.

To WHOM IT MAT CONCERN.-In the year 1875 I To Whom It MAT CONCERN.—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Gure, a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargemen. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I eversee any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Cure. R. A. Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Is sure inits effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach any deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement, if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callons, sprains swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liminent is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liminent for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects. It is used full strength with perfect safety at all seasons of the year. Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.
